

Nominate a Student
Opportunity for a Sponsored IAH Student Membership
Call for Nominations – Due December 16, 2022

The International Association of Hydrogeologists (IAH) U.S. National Chapter (USNC) encourages hydrogeology students eager to learn more about hydrogeology worldwide to join IAH!

The USNC is sponsoring two-year student memberships in IAH for several select students. To pursue this opportunity for 2023 the USNC requests the following:

- USNC members and University professors/advisors in hydrogeology, geoscience, and related programs can nominate one student for a two-year membership. The nominee must (1) be studying hydrogeology or a closely related field, (2) currently be in graduate school or be a senior undergraduate with clear plans to attend graduate school starting no later than fall term of 2023, (3) remain a graduate student at least through spring term of 2024, and (4) cannot have received a USNC sponsored student membership in the past.
- Nominating USNC members and professors/advisors should determine that the student has an interest in and will benefit from this membership and submit the following qualifying information:
 1. Nominating member's or professor's/advisor's name, institutional/academic/corporate affiliation and department, and email address;
 2. Student's name, academic affiliation and department, and contact information (mailing address and email address);
 3. Student's graduation month and year (anticipated date); and
 4. Brief statement relating to student's interest and potential benefit derived from IAH membership (1 to 2 sentences).
- Nominations are due by December 16, 2022; please email the requested nomination information to Andy O'Reilly, USNC Executive Committee member, at andrew.oreilly@usda.gov.

By January 16, 2023, the USNC Executive Committee will a) qualify the nominations, b) select awardees, and c) notify all nominees and nominating members or professors/advisors. The USNC will submit the applicant's contact information and payment to IAH headquarters for the student's IAH membership, including an online subscription to the Hydrogeology Journal, beginning with the first issue of the membership year. The awardees will be featured in the Spring 2023 USNC Newsletter.

The USNC looks forward to increasing student participation in IAH! Visit our websites to learn more about IAH (<https://iah.org/>) and the USNC (<https://iah-usa.org/>).
